DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figures 1 and 2 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hanf et al.

(US Patent 6,115,831).

Regarding claim 1, Hanf et al. disclose an Integrated Circuit For coupling A MicroControlled Control Apparatus To A Two-Wire Bus which teaches all the claimed subject matter “plurality of nodes...terminating resistor incorporated in each of said nodes” in claim 1 as follows. The connection of nodes to a two-wire control area network is well known in the art. Hanf et al. teach terminating resistors 16 and 17 selectively connecting a node with a two-wire bus for the purpose of compensating line faults (figure 2, column 6, lines 55-65).

In regards to claim 2, see claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of Hanf et al. (US Patent 6,115,831).

AAPA disclose all the subject matter claimed, note figure 1 of instant application, except their two-wire system node bus interface is not selectively connected to terminating resistors in each of wire of the two-wire bus. AAPA does not explicitly teach "a clip circuit", however, the functionality of the differential amplifier (19, figure 1) is the same.

Hanf et al. teach the use of selectively connecting terminating resistors to each wire of a two-wire bus for the purpose of compensating line faults (figure 2, column 6, lines 55-65).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify AAPA's node with Hanf et al.'s teaching of selectively connecting terminating resistors to each wire of a two-wire bus system, since Hanf et al. suggest in column 6, lines 55-65 that the result of this would help to compensate for line fault events.

Regarding claim 4, see claim 3.
